"On the occasion of World Health Day, Baxter India wishes that everyone takes preventive measures against diseases. We have a responsibility as an industry to look for effective and innovative solutions that increase awareness about disease and their prevention, improve care and address unmet patient needs. At Baxter, we believe partnerships and innovation are central to creating a sustainable healthcare future for India. For over fifteen years, Baxter has partnered with the healthcare community in India to create solutions that expand and sustain access to affordable quality care at hospitals and at home for better patient outcomes. Our awareness, training and education initiatives address crucial areas of unmet needs such as hemophilia and end stage renal disease by establishing and advancing standards of care and expanding access to care. Baxter and our employees are united in a mission to save and sustain lives."
