

NATHEALTH 6TH Anniversary on 20th May, 2018

Dr. Shivinder Mohan Singh, Past President NATHEALTH

“NATHEALTH, set up in May 2012, aspires to be the credible voice of India’s healthcare sector with an imperative to work for the benefit of the people of India by addressing the wide ranging issues important across the spectrum of healthcare stakeholders.

It is commendable that in a short span of six years, NATHEALTH has worked effectively to shape policies, drive innovation, share best practices, build skilled manpower and most importantly has brought all stakeholders on a common platform and become a credible and unified voice in improving access and quality of healthcare.

Through NATHEALTH in its secretariat’s efforts, it has collaborated with eminent institutions such as IFC, NASSCOM, TFHC, Austrade and Duke University for learning and driving synergies.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all NATHEALTH members and partners for driving this change to provide a platform for a strong and healthy India. With the healthcare sector at an inflexion point, NATHEALTH is well positioned to drive a paradigm shift by improving access, affordability and equity.

We need continued strong leadership as we drive Indian healthcare from being a disorganized and dispersed sector to a strong force that works for nation building and specifically keeping our nation healthy and productive!

All the very best!”

Mr. Sushobhan Dasgupta, Past President NATHEALTH and Managing Director Johnson & Johnson Medical India & South Asia and Vice President Orthopedics businesses of Johnson & Johnson Asia Pacific

“Heartiest Congratulations to our dearest NATHEALTH and to the forever young leader AnjanDa, to the dynamic Governing Council, to the very efficient members of the Secretariat & to all our members for reaching this coveted milestone. This 6 year journey has been very successful and satisfying amidst a lot of opportunities & turbulence in our fast growing Indian healthcare environment. Kudos to all for your belief, passion, ethics, resilience & teamwork which would make our NATHEALTH even stronger, bolder & bigger.”

Mr. Rahul Khosla, Past President NATHEALTH and President Max Group and Chairman, Max Healthcare

“NATHEALTH has established itself as a credible voice for the healthcare sector on fundamental issues spanning across pricing, public-private partnerships, digital health, skills and ethics. Expectations from the healthcare sector are high, while at the same time, it is under pressure from several quarters. It is crucial now more than ever for all stakeholders to maintain the momentum we have built over the past six years, and work collaboratively with the government to shape the future of healthcare in India. It is time for less posturing, more dialogue, genuine collaboration and faster action. NATHEALTH is well positioned to facilitate the journey towards accessible, affordable and quality healthcare at scale.”

“NATHEALTH has truly come of age in the last six years and has become the true voice of the healthcare industry. We shall ever be grateful to NATHEALTH for having developed, alongwith IMA, the Code of Ethics. I am sure that this COE shall be adopted by the entire healthcare industry and shall pave the way for reducing the trust deficit that has arisen between the industry on the one hand and the people, Government and the media on the other.”

Mr. Daljit Singh, President NATHEALTH and President, Fortis Healthcare Limited

“As it celebrates its 6th birthday, NATHEALTH can look back with pride at having created a true, integrative platform that speaks for India’s Healthcare sector. Its pioneering work on several key themes, particularly on the creation of a framework for PPPs and development of the Code of Ethics, has been commendable. Indian Healthcare is at an inflection point, calling for a highly considered and mature response from the sector, given the massive healthcare delivery gaps that exist across our country. NATHEALTH will need to further step up its internal dialogue, amongst members, and external dialogue, with the Government, to develop sustainable solutions for our country’s healthcare challenges; it is also well poised to take the lead in driving ethical and responsible behaviour in the healthcare ecosystem, so necessary to rebuild trust in society.

My grateful thanks to the NATHEALTH Team and all members for their contribution over the years.”

"The last six years have been outstanding for NATHEALTH and its various stakeholders. During this period, the Vision of making NATHEALTH the voice of the healthcare sector has been steadily progressed. This is evidenced by the growing membership base both in terms of numbers & variety, the different types of policy issues that it is engaged with and finally, the attention it is able to get from the principal stakeholder, i.e. the government. I have witnessed this initially as a governing council member during NATHEALTH's formative years and now as a member representing a VC firm.

This has been possible due to the energy & resources that the founding & governing council members have invested in this new idea. Also, the strength of any industry body is its secretariat, its backbone. Anjan-da and his small band of merry women & men have been tireless in their efforts to make NATHEALTH a name to reckon with!"

I take this opportunity to congratulate Nathealth on its 6th anniversary. Nathealth has come a long way in a short period in
(1) framing code of ethics, by founding members, a document now being adopted by other industry organisations,
(2)working closely with multiple government stakeholders to shape healthcare policies for the future

(3) rallying industry partners , right from hospital providers to Med tech companies, home health providers, diagnostics group etc with a purpose of building a better skilled employable work force, driving procedure and product innovations, and support shaping policies towards Ayushman Bharat - healthy people for a healthy nation. India is at a transition in healthcare, with governments vision on UHC as end goal, here's wishing Nathealth and its secretariat to play an important role to channelise and direct this, in the right meaningful and mature direction. Heartiest congratulations on completing 6 yrs and wish the very best for the most important upcoming landmark year in healthcare.

Ms. Preetha Reddy, Executive Vice Chairperson, Apollo Hospitals Group

Dear NATHEALTH members

"An anniversary is indeed the apt moment to reiterate my deep appreciation to all the members, governing council and past presidents for their passionate support in nurturing the growth of NATHEALTH.

As the healthcare federation of India, NATHEALTH has been successful in bringing together diverse verticals of the sector, forging significant partnerships and all of this is commendable. Nevertheless in the journey to accelerate positive change, there is no time to rest. Moving forward, NATHEALTH must hasten its pace in ensuring that it strengthens its focus in representing the perspectives of the sector, influences policy making and contributes much more towards building a healthier India. The private health sector addresses a large share of the India's medical needs and with greater impetus on robust PPPs, preventable deaths can be prevented and our unique demographics will become our advantage.

Congratulations NATHEALTH and best wishes in shaping a healthier tomorrow for India.
